MISSION

“To enhance the community’s cultural environment through the development of the arts.”

VISION

Broward County is where...

The arts are essential and significantly contribute to the quality of life for our entire community. The public recognizes and appreciates their enormous value. The Cultural Division is committed to making the arts accessible to all.

Artists, arts organizations, their leadership and staff, feel connected to each other and to the broader arts community. Collaboration and innovation are a core focus of organizations’ programming.

The arts are recognized as integral to the local tourism economy and are leveraged to attract corporate investment.

The business community actively supports the growth and development of the arts and view the arts as key to the health and wellbeing of their employees.

GOALS

- Increase Financial Investment
- Catalyze Community Development
- Build Capacity and Learning
- Amplify Stories and Elevate our Brand

PILLARS

To guide our work, we employ a “Five Pillars” strategic framework. This framework is used in the development of programs and initiatives as a way to assess our assumptions and ensure fairness and justice are core elements of our systems and processes.

INTRODUCTIONS

Committed to the development of the arts, Broward County’s Cultural Division increased funding for artists by more than 35% and funded 73 artists. In collaboration with the Community Foundation of Broward, we launched the Artist Innovation Grant, which awards 10 artists with $10,000 stipends; and we reinstated the $1 million annual Cultural & Artistic Facilities Capital Grant reinforcing our commitment to developing cultural infrastructure.

I extend my sincere appreciation to the County Commissioners, County Administrator, and the Cultural Council for their continued investment in shaping a community that celebrates diversity, innovation, and inclusivity. Looking ahead, I eagerly anticipate continued positive impact from Broward County’s dedication to the arts.

Phillip Dunlap
Director, Broward Cultural Division

Monica Cepero
County Administrator

With over $386 million contributed to the local economy the arts sector drives revenue, tourism, and employment. As County Administrator, I am committed to our County’s vibrant cultural community. Lamar P. Fisher
County Mayor

As Mayor of Broward County, I’m honored to be part of significant advancements in arts and culture. With support from my fellow Commissioners and County leaders, we’ve increased the Cultural Division’s budget by more than 25% over the last five years. I’m grateful for our County’s commitment to creativity in our community.

CULTURAL DIVISION ANNUAL EXPENDITURES

CULTURAL DIVISION AT A GLANCE

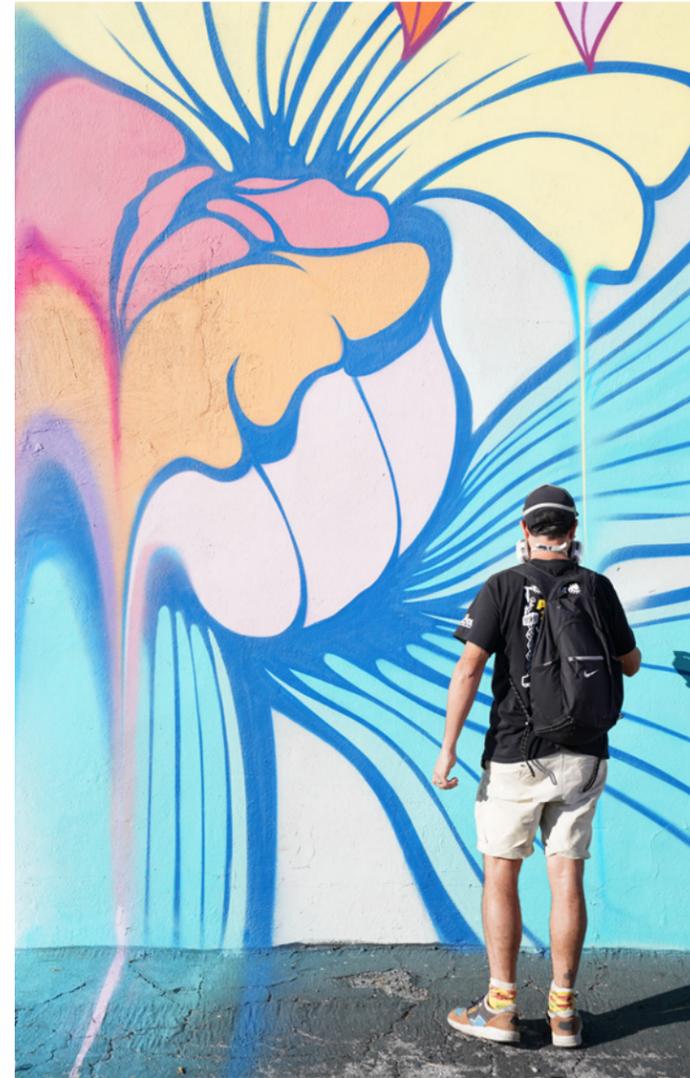

The Broward County Cultural Division, operating within the County Government, plays a pivotal role in nurturing and expanding the arts and cultural infrastructure of our vibrant community. Supported by the Broward Cultural Council, the agency actively engages in shaping cultural policy and advocating for the arts, both locally and nationally.

FY 2023 Overview

In fiscal year 2023, the Division's total spending covers grants, programs, administration, staff salaries, and benefits, aiming to support and enrich Broward County's cultural vibrancy.

FY24	$9,303,200 BUDGETED *
FY23	$10,131,815
FY22	$7,542,060
FY21	$7,564,500

*Public art expenditures vary from year to year (based on construction schedules) and will be updated with the actual expenditures in the FY24 report.

The agency's multifaceted approach revolves around four primary lines of business:

- 1 Grantmaking: These programs extend support to artists, organizations, and municipalities, fostering creativity and cultural endeavors throughout Broward County.
- 2 Public Art: The Cultural Division is dedicated to enriching public spaces through the integration of art, enhancing the aesthetic experience for residents and visitors alike.
- 3 Community Engagement Programs: Through various initiatives, the agency facilitates meaningful interactions between the arts and the community, promoting inclusivity and broadening cultural participation.
- 4 Marketing and Branding Initiatives: The Cultural Division actively promotes and enhances the visibility of the County's rich cultural tapestry, contributing to a dynamic and diverse artistic landscape.

ECONOMIC IMPACT

The Cultural Division team participated in the national Arts & Economic Prosperity 6 (AEP6) Study, which examined the correlation between audience expenditures and participation in arts events, as well as the ensuing economic activity. Data was analyzed by Americans for the Arts and included in a comprehensive national and local profile, outlining the economic impact of our nonprofit arts and culture sector.

The study revealed an overwhelming sentiment—that the arts are widely perceived as a highly significant aspect of our community. Venues and arts facilities are unequivocally regarded as crucial pillars and their hypothetical disappearance would elicit a profound sense of loss. The arts, serving as a source of pride for our neighborhoods, motivate attendance at events with the aim of ensuring their continuity for generations to come.

The biggest economic impact of arts and culture organizations is the substantial event-related spending by their audiences, a phenomenon uncommon in most other industries. Among the study’s findings: in 2022, the nonprofit arts and culture industry in Broward County generated $138,773,054 in spending by the organizations, catalyzing an additional $247,830,621 in event-related spending by their audiences.

In the same year, over 5.8 million individuals attended in-person arts and culture events, expending an average of $41.47 per person, per event — a figure inclusive of expenses beyond admission, such as meals, parking, and lodging. This event-related spending assumes a pivotal role as income for local businesses.

The non-profit arts and culture sector made a substantial contribution of $386,603,675 to Broward’s economy and sustained 6,718 jobs.

2 PUBLIC ART & DESIGN

Broward's Public Art & Design Program, which will celebrate its 50th Anniversary in 2026, is one of the oldest programs of its kind in the U.S. The program stewards the County's extensive art collection (valued at $31,287,290).

As we move forward and expand the Public Art & Design Program beyond the traditional functionally-integrated art, we're pursuing new commissions and projects related to digital and virtual public art at the intersection of art and technology, including the development of our public art collection in the Metaverse.

Navigating the intricacies of public art projects tied to construction timelines, the program reported art expenditures for Fiscal Year 2023 totaling $890,617. This sum reflects commitments to ongoing commissions and conservation activities, illustrating an impactful investment in cultural enrichment.

Museum of Discovery and Science Honored at the White House

South Florida is more than beaches at day and clubs at night. The area has a burgeoning cultural scene and the rest of the country is taking notice. The Museum of Discovery and Science (MDCS) in Fort Lauderdale was honored as one of America's top museums by the Institute of Museum and Library Services. Joe Cox, MDCS President and CEO, accepted the award during a ceremony at the White House with First Lady, Dr. Jill Biden. The National Medal for Museum and Library Service is the nation's highest honor given to museums and libraries demonstrating excellence in service to their communities.

JAZZ APPRECIATION MONTH

Many of you may not know, but my background and area of study in college was jazz piano. Prior to moving to Broward County, I worked for a jazz arts non-profit organization in St. Louis, where I played jazz within the community (and around the world), and also taught jazz at area universities. It is certainly something that I miss, but beyond performing on stage, I miss listening to jazz music in a small venue like a jazz club. From its origins in speakeasies and juke joints, jazz was brought into the concert hall setting by Norman Granz whose Jazz at the Philharmonic series began in 1944. In 1946, Woody Herman performed at the famed Carnegie Hall. Today, jazz can regularly be heard in our community in concert halls, outdoor amphitheaters and other large venues. There are also a handful of local restaurants that present jazz, listening rooms along the lines of Village Vanguard in New York, the Dakota in Minneapolis and Jazz St. Louis in St. Louis. April is Jazz Appreciation Month, and to help celebrate, the Cultural Division is partnering with multi-talented jazz artist Nicole Turley to launch the new concert series, Jazz at the Circuit.
