Water Matters Day
Tree and Plant Giveaway
October 16, 2021
Native Shrubs
Firebush

Hamelia patens

- Grows rapidly to 10 ft high
- Blooms year-round red-orange tubular flowers that attract hummingbirds & butterflies
- Can be a hedge, shrub or small tree
- Berries attract birds
- Full to partial sun
- High drought tolerance
- Moderate salt tolerance
Bahama Cassia
Senna mexicana var. chapmanii

- Fast growing shrub 2-3 feet high
- Accent plant suitable for mass plantings
- Full sun to light shade
- High drought tolerance
- Larval plant for Sulphur butterflies
- Blooms yellow flowers fall & winter
Native Trees and Palms
Bahama Strongbark
Bourreria succulenta

- Small accent or specimen flowering tree to 10 – 15 feet
- Moderate growth rate
- Full sun to light shade
- Prefers well-drained soils
- Drought tolerant
- Semi-showy white flower all year; ½ “ wide; aromatic
- Provides food and cover for wildlife
- Food and cover for hummingbirds
- Listed as endangered by the State of Florida
Live Oak

Quercus virginiana

- Large spreading tree typically 30-50 feet in South Florida
- Moderate to fast growth
- Can live hundreds of years
- Wind resistant
- Attracts butterflies and skippers
- Great nesting trees for birds and provides significant food for wildlife

Copyright by George D. Gann
Simpson’s Stopper

Myrcianthes fragrans

- Grows to 10 ft high shrub or small tree
- Blooms fragrant blossoms intermittently all year
- Orange berries attract birds
- Full to partial sun
- High drought tolerance
- High salt tolerance
Geiger Tree
Cordia sebestena

- Grows to an average of 20 feet
- Brilliant orange flowers year-round
- Prefers well drained soils
- High salt and drought tolerance
- Full sun to very light shade
- Attracts hummingbirds
Florida Thatch Palm

Thrinax radiata

- Grows slowly to 20 - 28 feet
- Partial to full sun
- White flowers and fruit provide food for birds and pollinators
- Larval food plant for Monk Skipper butterflies
- High salt and drought tolerance
- Listed as endangered by State of Florida
Key Thatch Palm

Leucothrinax morrisii

- Slowly grows 20 to 35 feet tall, its smooth, slender trunk topped with 3.5-foot-wide, beautiful, green and silver fronds.

- Light: Light Shade to Full Sun
- Height: 20 to 35 feet
- Spread: 8 to 12 feet
- Leaf color: dark green to blue and shiny on top, silver to light green underneath

- Highly drought- and salt-tolerant, making it ideal for seaside applications.

- Wildlife and Ecology: Provides significant food and cover for wildlife. Larval host plant for monk skipper (Asbolis capucinus) butterflies

Listed as endangered by the state of Florida.
Lignum vitae
Guaiacum sanctum

- Specimen shrub or small tree typically 8’ – 20’ in height
- Very slow growth rate
- Requires full sun or light shade
- Showy blue flower all year
- Provides food and cover for birds
- Larval host plant for lysine sulphur butterflies
- Nectar plant for butterflies and bees
- Catbirds and mockingbirds eat the seeds.

It is listed as endangered by the state of Florida.
Jamaican Caper
Capparis cynophallophora

- Small tree or large shrub growing slowly upright to 12 feet in height
- Full sun to light shade
- Showy, fragrant pink flowers mostly at night in late winter - spring
- Drought and salt tolerant, excellent plant for coastal gardens
- Useful as a low-maintenance hedge
- Provides food and cover for wildlife, larval host plant for Florida white butterflies
Trees
Non-Native
Jatropha

Jatropha integerrima

- Evergreen shrub or small tree with stunning flowers
- Will bring butterflies and hummingbirds to your garden.
- Can reach about 15 feet tall and have an equal spread when left unpruned.
- Low maintenance and drought tolerant
- Can handle partial shade to full sun, they will flower best in areas with full sun
Fruit Trees

Non-native
Loquat
Eriobotrya japonica

- Evergreen tree reaching 20 - 30 feet in height
- Short trunk and rounded to upright canopy
- Edible fruit in late winter and spring
- Fragrant clusters of creamy white flowers
- Fruit attracts birds and other wildlife
- Full sun
- Medium watering needs
Dwarf/Condo Mangos
Mangifera indica spp

Mallika native to India, superb flavor.
Fruit must be picked mature green and ripened at room temperature.

Glenn has a mild peachy flavor.
Trees typically fifteen feet tall
Fruit ripens June-July
Dwarf/Condo Mangos
Mangifera indica spp

Ice Cream – can be maintained a 6’ feet in height, sweet and rich flavored.

Fruit ripens from June to July

Nam Doc Mai- Asian mango
Fruit is firm, sweet, aromatic and completely fiberless.

Fruit ripens June to July.

Photos: Ian Maquire
Large Variety Mango
Mangifera indica spp

Pim Saen Mun is native to Southeast Asia.

Smooth texture and sweet flavor.

Large vigorous growers and prolific producers.

Harvest in July.